Braiswick Roses

N submitting our Rose Catalogue for the coming Autumn and Spring, we are pleased to state, that the standard of excellence which always characterises our roses has been successfully maintained.

We have done all that skill and care can accomplish in order to give our customers the very best roses that can be produced, and the benefit of our experience is always willingly given in the form of an honest opinion, on receipt of applications from any who may encounter difficulties in the choice and culture of their roses.

We tender our warmest thanks to those who continue to assist us, and gladly give our assurance that everything humanly possible will be done to give satisfaction to those who continue to favour us with their support.

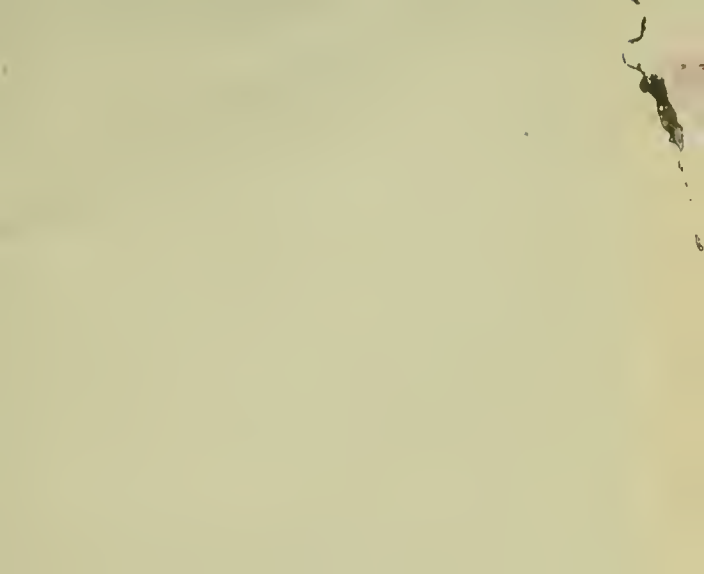

Orders from unknown Correspondents must be accompanied by a remittance or reference.

 When orders reach us late in the season, customers are particularly requested to supplement their lists with extra names, or grant permission for suitable substitutes to be sent.

All Prices in this Catalogue will be GREATLY REDUCED for the coming Autumn, when we publish our New List in July.

Before placing your next order you are respectfully requested to apply for lowest estimates for the very best Roses procurable.

NEW SEEDLING WICHURAIANA ROSE.

"YVONNE."

Awarded the GOLD MEDAL of the National Rose Society, July, 1920.

Also the Cory Cup for the best New Seedling Climbing Rose, 1920.

This superb variety will be found a worthy addition to the Wichuraiana Section. It has delightful glossy foliage, which is mildew-proof. Very neat pretty buds, perfection in shape, the flowers are carried in large loose trusses of blooms, which are thrown well away from the plant. Its wonderful lasting properties when cut combine to make it a very graceful rose for all decorative purposes. Colour a charming soft shade of pink, with deeper pink centre and yellow base, produced freely from July to September, and sweetly scented. In every way an exquisite variety, exceedingly vigorous in habit of growth, most suitable for arches, pergolas and screens.

STRONG GROUND PLANTS 7/6 each.
EXTRA STRONG PLANTS in pots 10/6.

STANDARDS 15/-.
HALF-STANDARDS 12/6

HINTS ON TREATMENT OF ROSES.

ARRIVAL OF PACKAGE.—Carefully unpack in some sheltered place, and sprinkle the roots and tops of the plants with water. Should the weather be wet, and the soil unfit to receive them, open a trench, lay the roots of the plants in, and cover them with earth until the weather is fine, and the soil sufficiently dry to tread upon. If the operation of planting is being performed during a dry-wind, or a sunny day, dip the roots two or three times into a pail of thick puddle, composed of loam (or any adhesive soil) and water. The ground having been prepared to receive them, follow the instructions for planting.

DELAY IN TRANSMISSION.—It seldom occurs that packages are delayed in transit for any length of time, but occasionally a package becomes over-due, and when it is delayed for more than a week it is necessary to carefully examine the plants on arrival, to ascertain if they have suffered. If any appear shrivelled, bury them completely in a trench six inches deep, soak well with water and allow them to remain three days underground; then take them up and plant them in their permanent quarters.

TERMS OF ACCEPTANCE. We exercise the greatest care in lifting and packing our rose trees to insure their safe arrival at their destination in perfect condition, but as their future success depends so much on the way they are planted, pruned, and looked after, and owing to the vagaries of our climate, we give no guarantee expressed or implied, and cannot be held responsible for any failures. If the purchaser does not accept the goods sold to him on these terms they must be returned at once. Our method of packing is so perfect that plants will suffer no injury if delayed on the journey 14 to 21 days. (For foreign countries extra care is exercised).

SITUATION.—The most perfect situation for roses, and particularly exhibition roses, is a bed to themselves sheltered if possible from the south-west, and shaded from bright sunshine after 3 o'clock in the afternoon. There is no garden in which roses may not be grown successfully, provided suitable varieties are selected.

SOIL.—A rich loam which feels greasy when pressed between the fingers is the best; where this is not to be obtained, the soil may be improved; if light, by the addition of loam (not clay) well worked in; where heavy, good drainage and the addition of coal ashes in small quantities, but in heavy soils drainage is most important.

PLANTING.—This should be done during the later part of October or November, for preference, but may safely be continued during open weather until the Spring.

Where it is intended to make a rose bed, the soil must be dug 18 inches deep, mixing with it plenty of good cow, pig, or horse manure.

Do not put the manure on the bare roots, but shake some fine mould over them. Tread firmly, and lay some manure or litter on the surface round the plant, as a protection from frost. Great care must be taken not to plant the roots too deeply, the roots of standards should be about 5 inches below the surface.

Dwarf roses should be planted with the union of the bud with stock one inch below surface line; spread the roots over as large an area as possible.

DISTANCE.—Standards may be planted $2\frac{1}{2}$ ft. apart, and require to be securely staked. Dwarfs should be planted $1\frac{1}{2}$ to 2 ft. apart.

MANURING.—Roses are gross feeders and require a quantity of manure. That from a bullock yard is the best, but when this is not procurable, either pig or stable manure are good substitutes. It is best to apply a surface dressing in the autumn for protection against frost. It is a dangerous practice to apply liquid or solid artificial manure to newly planted rose trees, nothing but water should be applied when needed, during the first summer after planting.

WATERING.—Should the spring and summer prove dry, syringing overhead and watering is necessary, and all fresh-planted roses will require to be well saturated once a week, and syringed overhead daily, with water which has been exposed to the action of the air. If larger flowers are required, water established plants with diluted liquid manure. Plants on walls must be watered twice weekly.

MILDEW is sometimes very troublesome to the grower of roses during rapid variations of temperature from heat to cold, and also during long periods of dry weather. To prevent and cure this troublesome pest, we sell a mixture in 1 lb. packets, post free, 3/-. 1 oz. to the gallon, dissolve in a pint of warm rain water; then add the required quantity of rain water, and syringe or spray the foliage on the plants affected. Users are specially reminded to see the quantity is carefully weighed, also water used as per quantities stated.

INSECTS are troublesome to the rose grower. In spring, as soon as the plants begin to grow, the young leaves curl and stick together, they must be unfolded and inside will be found a small maggot, which must be destroyed. After this the green fly will appear, and for the destruction of this pest we sell a concentrated mixture which is certain death to aphids, and does not injure the foliage. Price 7/6 per $\frac{1}{2}$ gallon. Quantity $\frac{1}{2}$ pint of concentrated mixture; put into 3 pints of rain water, well mix by rapid stirring, and then add 5 to 6 gallons of rain water. This mixture being perfectly harmless to young tender foliage, the rose shoots may be dipped in or syringed with it.

STOCKS FOR ROSES.—For Standards and Half-Standards we use the Dog Briar; for Dwarf H.P.'s the Briar Cutting, Seedling Briar, and the Manetti Stocks; for Dwarf Teas and Noisettes the Briar Cutting and Seedling Briar Stocks; when the selection is left to us, we send Roses budded on the stock on which we have found from long experience and careful observation each variety succeeds best.

PRUNING.—The middle of March, or later, as may be necessary according to the lateness or earliness of vegetation, is the time to prune roses. It must not be forgotten there are two objects in view—one to produce large perfect flowers with which to win prizes at exhibitions, and the other to produce quantities of good flowers, either for the embellishment of the garden, or for the decoration of the house. It is quite impossible to lay down any hard and fast rule for pruning; because the method must necessarily vary according to the variety. For instance Ulrich Brunner and Victor Hugo cannot be treated alike in the method of pruning; the former being much the stronger growing, should not be pruned so hard as the latter, the shoots of which should be reduced to within three or four "eyes" of the base when required for exhibition purposes.

We advise those who grow Roses, either as standards or half-standards, or as bushes in beds, for the decoration of their garden and not for exhibiting, to prune sparingly, merely cutting away any dead or unripe (pithy) wood, and slightly reduce in length the stronger and longer shoots, always of course thinning out the centre of the plants, so as to admit light and air.

When ordering Standard, Half-Standard, or Dwarf Standard Roses, please state what height they are wanted.

Standards vary in height from 3ft. to 4 $\frac{1}{2}$ ft. high.

Half-Standards vary in height from 1 $\frac{1}{2}$ ft. to 2ft. 9in. high.

Dwarf Standards vary in height from 1ft. to 15ins. high.

☛ Owing to the short stock of some varieties, customers are requested to add a few extra names to their orders.

Standard Roses are scarce this year, owing to the difficulty of obtaining briar stocks and only those sorts which are priced in the column for standards and half-standards can be supplied as such. They are fine plants, grown on gritty soil, therefore fibrous rooted.

Abbreviations used : VIG., denotes Vigorous habit of Growth ; ROB., Robust habit of Growth ; MOD., Moderate habit of Growth.

Varieties printed in larger type are the new Roses of 1921.

HYBRID PERPETUALS.

HYBRID TEAS.

Great advances have been made in this section during the past 15 years. Amongst the varieties described will be found all the shades of colour necessary to make a garden beautiful. It is not too much to say these are the true perpetual flowering roses, alike in early summer and late autumn ; they are continuously in bloom, and for general garden ornamentation there is nothing to equal them. Many of them make most beautiful standards as well as bushes. The varieties in this section specially recommended for exhibition purposes are marked thus*.

When grown for the decoration of the garden, severe pruning should be avoided.

We are ROSE SPECIALISTS and devote our whole time to the culture of "The Queen of Flowers," customers can therefore be assured of having only the best roses possible, grown by us at our three Rose Gardens, Braiswick Rose Gardens, Elmstead Lodge Gardens, and West Bergholt Gardens, COLCHESTER.

Our dwarf Roses are budded so close to the roots of the stock on which they are worked, that they are practically on their own roots, this being an immense advantage, reducing to a minimum the chance of wild suckers being emitted from the stock on which the rose is budded.

TEA AND NOISETTE SECTION.

These are so delicately beautiful and refined as to be unrivalled. They are ever blooming from May to November. A slight protection in the form of brake or bracken, tucked into the heads of the plants, should be given in very severe weather ; dwarf plants may be earthed up like celery.

A high position and good porous soil suit them best, and undoubtedly the finest flowers are produced on HALF-STANDARDS, whether in the open ground or in pots. They like liberal treatment in manuring, and when planted in masses nothing can be more beautiful.

☛ If large blooms are required for exhibition, Teas must be closely pruned leaving only about three eyes on each shoot, but if grown for garden ornamentation very little pruning is required, cutting away only the weakest wood. For this class we advise good decomposed stable manure.

The varieties in this section specially recommended for exhibition are marked thus*, and with but two or three exceptions they are all good strong growers.

HYBRID SWEET BRIARS.

These delightful single roses, raised by Lord Penzance, are admired by all who see them. Both foliage and flower are deliciously fragrant with Sweet Briar perfume ; they are all strong growers, and carry a profusion of bloom during June and July, followed by enormous quantities of bright scarlet hips, and are perfectly hardy. They require little pruning, and make impenetrable hedges of great beauty ; they also form charming objects when planted amongst shrubs, or on lawns.

All 2/- each. 22/6 dozen.

Amy Robsart, lovely deep rose ; an abundant bloomer.

Anne of Geierstein, crimson ; followed by bunches of hips.

Brenda, maidens, blush or peach, dainty in colour and shade.

Catherine Seyton, a very pleasing tint of soft rosy pink.

Edith Bellenden, pale rose ; flowering profusely in clusters.

Flora McIvor, large pale pink, flushed rose ; one of the best.

Green Mantle, rich pink, with a band of white encircling the anthers.

Jeannie Deans, very large scarlet crimson ; flowering freely in clusters.

Julia Mannering, the prettiest of all the pink varieties.

Lady Penzance, copper, base bright yellow ; one of the best.

Lord Penzance, soft fawn, tinted yellow and pink ; one of the best.

Lucy Ashton, white blooms, pink edges ; wonderfully free flowering.

Lucy Bertram, fine deep crimson, the richest colour of all.

Meg Merrilies, gorgeous crimson ; very free flowering ; seeds abundantly.

Minna, large pure white, with tint of palest blush ; bushy habit.

Rose Bradwardine, beautiful clear rose, large flowers.

The Set of 16, one strong plant of each, three to five feet high, for 28/-

OTHER SWEET BRIAR ROSES.

2/- Hebe's Lip, white, with picotee edge of purple ; one of the prettiest single roses ; it makes a charming bush.

2/- Janet's Pride, palest straw edge of petals tipped and fringed with crimson lake ; it makes a delightful bush.

SCOTCH BRIAR ROSES.

We supply the following varieties of Scotch Roses "Abbot's Rule," "Horace," "King of Scots," "Lass O'Gowrie," "Meg Merrilies," "Scotia," "Stanwell Perpetual," at 2/- each. The flowers are small and semi-double, produced abundantly on shoots covered with small sharp spines.

DWARF POLYANTHA ROSES.

These are of dwarf habit, producing compact clusters of charming miniature flowers, throughout the summer and autumn. They are lovely bedders, and most useful for edgings or borders, round beds of the stronger growing roses, and require very little pruning. They form charming specimens in pots for conservatory decoration.

PARCEL POST COLLECTION.

Small quantities of Dwarf Roses can be forwarded through this medium with perfect safety, and for long distances much cheaper than by rail. We will forward to any part of the United Kingdom twelve first-class plants, OUR OWN SELECTION OF SORTS, packing free and postage paid, for 21/- if cash accompanies order.

Climbing Roses planted on South or West walls require to be watered twice weekly from April to September.

CLIMBING ROSES.

All 2/- to 3/- each, unless otherwise stated.

Under this heading we include all roses suitable for walls, arches, pergolas, bowers, etc., and describe as far as possible the position for which each variety is best suited.

Climbing roses planted on lawns beside carriage drives, if treated in the following manner, will form pyramids of wonderful beauty, producing masses of blossoms from base to top. A hole 2 feet deep and 2 feet square will accommodate one early and one late blooming rose, insert three stakes 8 to 9 feet long in the ground $1\frac{1}{2}$ feet from the plant, to form the three corners of a triangle; the upper ends must be brought together and securely tied with string. The long shoots of the Climbing Roses must then be bent and trained round the three stakes, and after 2 years' growth the stakes will be entirely hidden by the foliage and blossoms. Try "Excelsa" and "Gardenia" in this way as an experiment. There are many gardens in which the bare trunks of old trees may be made objects of great beauty, by planting Climbing Roses at the base of the trunk, and training the long shoots round them.

Yellow, yellow; small and double; very beautiful; a profuse bloomer and quite evergreen.

EXTRA STRONG CLIMBING ROSES.

3/6 to 5/- each according to the size of the plant with strong rods.

ROSE WICHURAIANA AND ITS HYBRIDS.

These are suitable for Rockery, or Sloping Banks, Pillars, Pergolas, Arches, and Screens, also for covering the bare trunks of Trees, being strong, free blooming, hardy and mildew proof.

The species White Wichuraiana is very late flowering, and many of the varieties, such as Dorothy Perkins, Minnehaha, etc., are also; while such sorts as Gardenia, Jersey Beauty, etc., are early blooming. Therefore the value of this section is much enhanced for the purpose of making screens and pergolas beautiful, and the period of flowering prolonged by the use of one early and one late flowering variety, being planted alternately. They produce an enormous crop of blooms, are very hardy and mildew proof,. For Weeping Standards there are no roses to compare with them (see page 38),

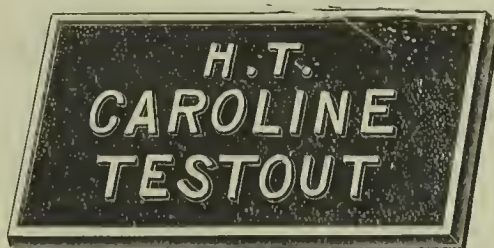

All 2/- to 3/- each, unless otherwise stated.

Léontine Gervais , salmon and rose, changing to yellow as the flower expands; a most beautiful variety; early flowering.
Minnehaha , deep pink, does not fade; immense pyramidal trusses similar to Dorothy Perkins , but standing out on bold relief, best of all the pinks in this section; late flowering.
Miss Hellyett , large and full; rosy pink with salmon pink centre, a decided acquisition; mid-season.
René André , saffron yellow, with orange red; very pretty; early flowering.
Romeo , grand addition to fast growing ramblers, deep red, double, perfect form resembling a miniature Liberty ; excellent for button holes and florist work. Price 3/6.
Sweetheart , pale pink, shading to soft white when expanded; large pyramidal trusses, deliciously fragrant; late flowering.
White Dorothy , a white sport from the well-known Dorothy Perkins , very beautiful. Gold Medal, N.R.S.; late flowering.
White Wichuraiana (see page 42); late flowering.

ROSE TREES

New Pedigree Seedlings now ready for distribution.

JUNE 1922.

Mrs. ALFRED WEST (H.T.).

A charming novelty of unsurpassed beauty both in colour and form.

The foundation of its colour is bright shrimp pink, but in the bud stage the flowers are edged and suffused with deep coppery apricot, intermixed with orange, which, as the flowers extend, gives place to a clear salmon pink, faintly and closely veined with a reddish copper.

The flowers are very large and pointed with deep shell petals, and are carried on erect stems in great profusion. It is a hardy variety, vigorous in growth, with branching habit, and will be found indispensable for exhibition and bedding alike. Price 10/6

SNOWFLAKE (Wichuraiana).

Awarded the GOLD MEDAL of the National Rose Society, 1921, also the Cory Cup for the best New Seedling Climbing Rose, 1921.

A very lovely snow white Rambler, by far the best of its colour in this section.

The individual flowers have the appearance of miniature snowballs, about the size of a Walnut. It is extremely free flowering, the trusses are large and delightfully graceful, carried on long stems, and the general effect of a well furnished plant gives the impression of myriads of enormous snowflakes resting upon a shining background. Late flowering.

Its habit is vigorous, it is mildew proof, and must be seen to be fully appreciated. Price 10/6.

YVONNE (Wichuraiana).

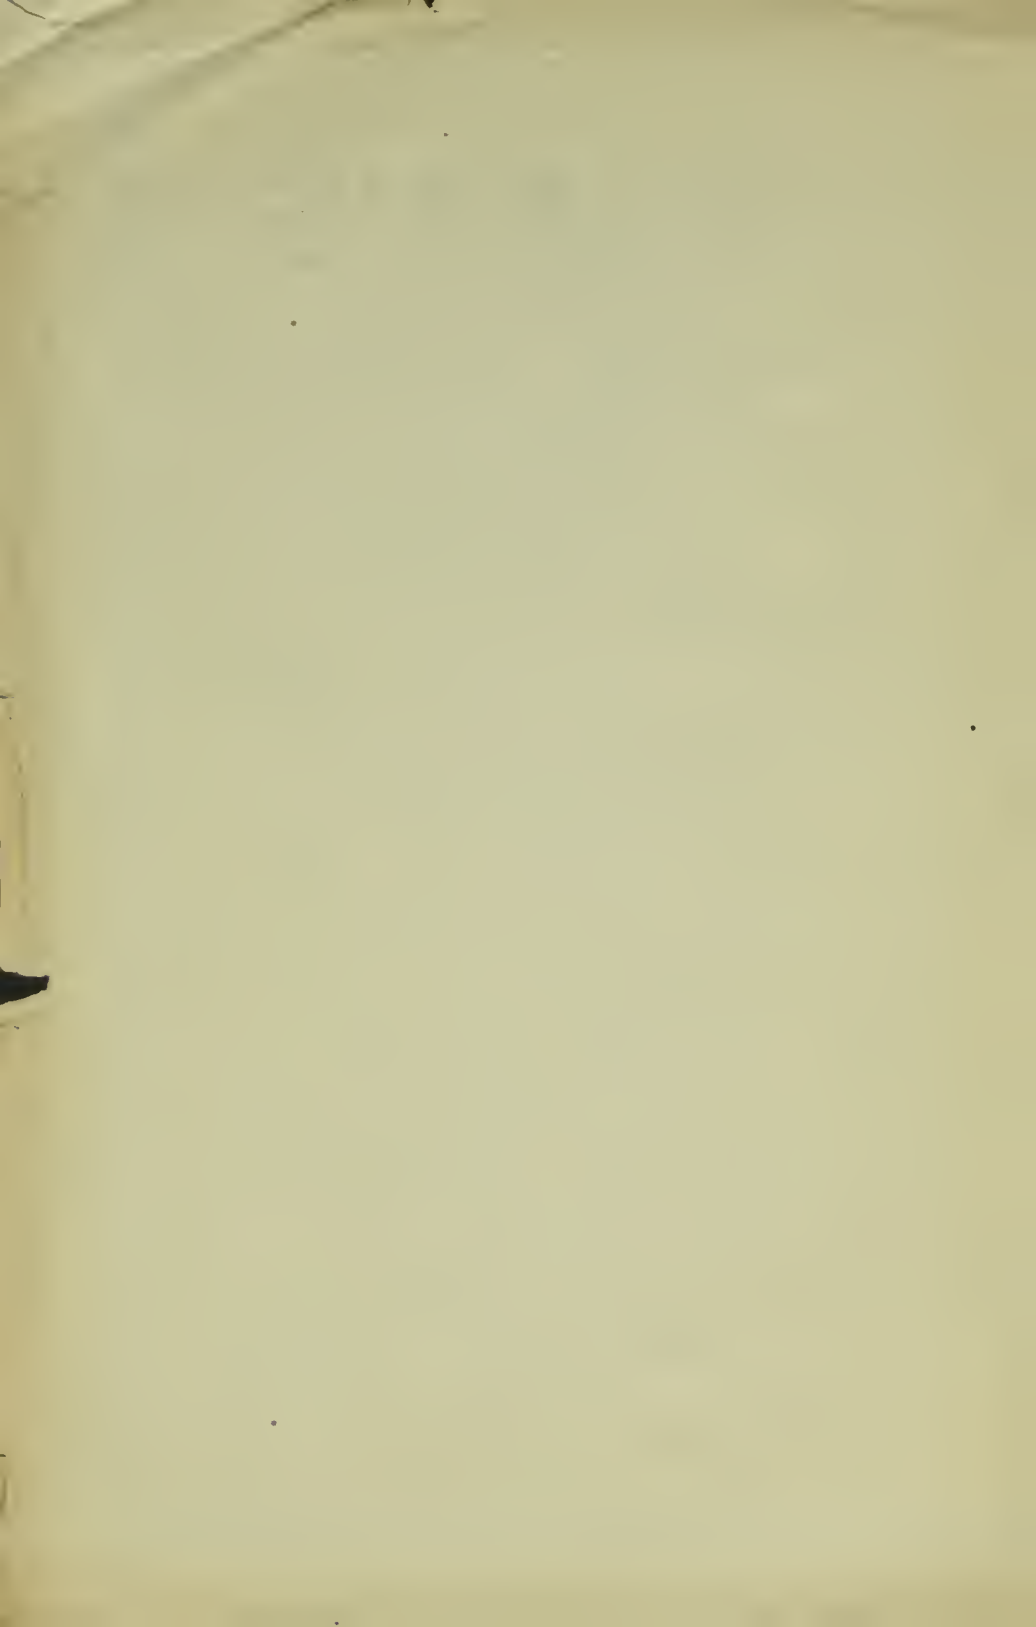

Awarded the GOLD MEDAL of the National Rose Society, 1920, also the Cory Cup for the best New Seedling Climbing Rose, 1920.

A worthy addition to the Wichuraiana Section, delightful glossy foliage, which is mildew proof. Very neat pretty buds, perfection in shape, flowers carried in large loose trusses, thrown well away from plant. Its wonderful lasting properties when cut combine to make it a very graceful rose for all decorative purposes. Colour, a charming shade of pink, with deeper pink centre and yellow base, produced freely from July to September, and sweetly scented. Suitable for arches, pergolas and screens.
